Addendum to Affidavit:

Sponsorship and the Affidavit of Support forms are understood to be a serious obligation to the student, the Seminary, and, ultimately, to our Lord. We urge you, as you make this financial commitment, to consider that by your promise of support you are becoming a partner with the Seminary in its vision to train men and women to minister within their home countries.

If you choose to sponsor a student financially and submit an Affidavit of Support form promising a specific amount, we consider that you so honor that promise by sending the remuneration to the student at the appropriate time.

Your commitment is very important and we take it seriously. If funds do not arrive for this student, and the student is not able to pay for the cost of his or her education, the student will be withdrawn and asked to return to their his or her home country.

If at any time you are unable to meet this commitment, you must submit the reason in writing to the Director of International Students.

By signing this addendum, you are indicating your full understanding of what it is to be a financial sponsor of a Westminster Theological Seminary international student.

Thank you for your generosity of spirit in sharing the vision with us.

I agree and will comply with the above statements:
